

International Journal of Public Health

(formerly Sozial- und Präventivmedizin)

Editorials

- S 1 Women's health and equity indicators
F. Ben Abdelaziz
- S 3 Gender – a critical determinant of health in a global world
I. Kickbusch

Opinions

- S 5 Gender equity and health indicators in the context of health reforms
H. Standing
- S 7 Applications and development possibilities – moving beyond the WKC project to incorporate cultural diversity
J. G. Cwikel
- S 9 Gender health indicators for whom? Responding to the needs of different users
M. S. Fong

Original articles

- S11 Consensus building for developing gender-sensitive leading health indicators
F. Ben Abdelaziz
- S19 Comparative evaluation of indicators for gender equity and health
V. Lin, S. Gruszyn, C. Ellickson, J. Glover, K. Silburn, G. Wilson, C. Poljski
- S27 Gender-sensitive indicators: uses and relevance
V. Lin, H. L'Orange, K. Silburn
- S35 Integrating a gender perspective into health statistics: an ongoing process in Central America
L. Jara
- S41 Gender-based analysis, women's health surveillance and women's health indicators – Working together to promote equity in health in Canada
S. Austin, S. Tudiver, M. Chultem, M. Kantiebo
- S49 A field test of the gender-sensitive core set of leading health indicators in Manitoba, Canada
M. J. Haworth-Brockman, L. Donner, H. Isfeld

Birkhäuser