

CONTENTS

Research Papers

Testing the effectiveness of surrogate species for conservation planning in the Greater Virunga Landscape, Africa K.R. Jones (St Lucia, Australia), A.J. Plumptre (Kampala, Uganda), J.E.M. Watson (Bronx, NY, USA and St Lucia, Australia), H.P. Possingham (St Lucia, Australia), S. Ayebare (Kampala, Uganda), A. Rwetsiba, F. Wanyama (Bronx, NY, USA and Kampala, Uganda), D. Kujirakwinja (Goma, Congo and Kampala, Uganda) and C.J. Klein (St Lucia, Australia)	1
Congested spaces, contested scales – A review of spatial planning for wind energy in Ireland A. González (Ireland), G. Daly (Luxembourg) and J. Gleeson (Ireland)	12
The rapid and massive urban and industrial land expansions in China between 1990 and 2010: A CLUD-based analysis of their trajectories, patterns, and drivers W. Kuang, J. Liu (Beijing, China), J. Dong (Norman, OK, USA), W. Chi (Beijing, China) and C. Zhang (Urumqi, China)	21
Thinking outside the channel: Challenges and opportunities for protection and restoration of stream morphology in urbanizing catchments G.J. Vietz, I.D. Rutherford, T.D. Fletcher and C.J. Walsh (Victoria, Australia)	34
Building systems-based scenario narratives for novel biodiversity futures in an agricultural landscape M. Mitchell, M. Lockwood (Hobart, Australia), S.A. Moore and S. Clement (Murdoch, Australia)	45
Assessing urban sustainability of Chinese megacities: 35 years after the economic reform and open-door policy L. Huang, L. Yan (Hangzhou, China) and J. Wu (Tempe, AZ, USA and Beijing, China)	57
Greenbelts in Germany's regional plans—An effective growth management policy? S. Siedentop (Dortmund, Germany), S. Fina (Stuttgart, Germany) and A. Krehl (Dortmund, Germany)	71