

Porst, G., Gabel, F., Lorenz, S. & Miler, O: Implications of hydromorphological alterations to the littoral zone for freshwater ecosystem functioning	279–282
Bondar-Kunze, E., Tritthart, M. & Hein, T.: The influence of short term water level fluctuations and desiccation stress on periphyton development at a riparian zone of a large regulated river	283–296
Mastrantuono, L., Pilotto, F., Rossopinti, A., Bazzanti, M. & Solimini, A. G.: Response of littoral macroinvertebrates to morphological disturbances in Mediterranean lakes: the case of Lake Piediluco (central Italy).	297–310
Pätzig, M., Grüneberg, B. & Brauns, M.: Water depth but not season mediates the effects of human lakeshore modification on littoral macroinvertebrates in a large lowland lake.	311–321
Lorenz, S., Pusch, M. T. & Blaschke, U.: Minimum shoreline restoration requirements to improve the ecological status of a north-eastern German glacial lowland lake in an urban landscape	323–332
Ostendorp, W. & Ostendorp, J.: Analysis of hydromorphological alterations of lakeshores for the implementation of the European Water Framework Directive (WFD) in Brandenburg (Germany)	333–352
Miler, O., Ostendorp, W., Brauns, M., Porst, G. & Pusch, M. T.: Ecological assessment of morphological shore degradation at whole lake level aided by aerial photo analysis	353–369