

Contents

Issue 2 Volume 13 March 2015

67 Guest Editorial

The next century of ESA publications
DW Inouye and KS McCarter

68 Dispatches

Fighting toxic pollution: 2014's top 10
China to grow and eat more potatoes
New mosquito hybrid resistant to bed-net insecticides
Measuring soil moisture from space
Industrial wasteland a haven for rare frogs
Power from water pipes
Kenyan students fuel school with sewage
New tools to track mass mortality events
Large mammals declined after USSR collapse
Managing stormwater to save salmon

73 Write Back

Letters to the editor regarding the contents of past issues and comments on topics of current concern to Frontiers readers

76 Research Communications

Recreational demand for clean water: evidence from geotagged photographs by visitors to lakes
BL Keeler, SA Wood, S Polasky, C Kling, CT Filstrup, and JA Downing

82 Reviews

Marine urbanization: an ecological framework for designing multifunctional artificial structures
KA Dafforn, TM Glasby, L Airoidi, NK Rivero, M Mayer-Pinto, and EL Johnston 82

Why do we map threats? Linking threat mapping with actions to make better conservation decisions
VJD Tulloch, AIT Tulloch, P Visconti, BS Halpern, JEM Watson, MC Evans, NA Auerbach, M Barnes, M Beger, I Chadès, S Giakoumi, E McDonald-Madden, NJ Murray, J Ringma, and HP Possingham 91

100 Concepts and Questions

Mitigation-driven translocations: are we moving wildlife in the right direction?
JM Germano, KJ Field, RA Griffiths, S Chulow, J Foster, G Harding, and RR Swaisgood 100

The capacity of refugia for conservation planning under climate change
G Keppel, K Mokany, GW Wardell-Johnson, BL Phillips, JA Welbergen, and AE Reside 106

114 Natural History Notes

Staying high and dry: a unique nesting strategy for an insular iguana
CR Knapp

116 Frontiers Trading Post

Products, services, academic programs and courses, employment opportunities, awards, announcements, conferences, and meetings

120 Life Lines

Enchantment of the dolphin
A Burton