

Contents

Issue 9 Volume 14 November 2016

459 Guest Editorial

A growing awareness of harassment
KS McCarter

460 Dispatches

Cooperation in an altered Arctic Genetic rescue for Scandinavian wolves Canada poised to go coal-free
Arctic pollinators are disappearing
Coconuts can't catch a break
American ginseng under threat
Cocoa and vanilla: a sweet combination Australia hunts for new shark management solutions
Geographically isolated birds sing a different tune
A whale of a partnership

465 Research Communications

Declining streamflow induces collapse and replacement of native fish in the American Southwest

A Ruhl, JD Olden, and JL Sabo 465

The bioenergy potential of Natura 2000 – a synergy between climate change mitigation and biodiversity protection

K Van Meerbeek, S Ottoy, M de Andrés García, B Muys, and M Hermy 473

479 Reviews

Tools and terms for understanding illegal wildlife trade

J Phelps, D Biggs, and EL Webb 479

Guiding coral reef futures in the Anthropocene

*AV Norström, M Nyström, J-B Jouffray, C Folke, NAJ Graham, F Moberg,
P Olsson, and GJ Williams* 490

499 Concepts and Questions

Conservation decision making: integrating the precautionary principle with uncertainty

MR Falcy

505 Natural History Notes

Liquid lunch – vampire bats feed on invasive feral pigs and other ungulates

M Galetti, F Pedrosa, A Keuroghlian, and I Sazima

507 Frontiers Trading Post

Products, services, academic programs and courses, employment opportunities, awards, announcements, conferences, and meetings

516 Life Lines

...and the golden fish of the Oxus
A Burton
