

Journal of Arid Environments

Volume 143 August 2017

Special Issue on Rock Art in Arid Environment

Guest Editors: Dr. Davida Eisenberg-Degen, Prof. Haim Goldfus, Prof. George H. Nash

Contents

Eisenberg-Degen, D., Goldfus, H. & Nash, G.H. Editorial to the special issue on rock art in arid environments	1	Bucking, S. A dipinti-intensive cave dwelling as evidence of a monastic presence in Byzantine Avdat	28
Loubser, J.H.N. The Watson petroglyph complex as an enduring place in Southeastern Oregon, United States of America	4	Avner, U., Horwitz, L.K. & Horowitz, W. Symbolism of the ibex motif in Negev rock art.....	35
Soukopova, J. Central Saharan rock art: Considering the kettles and cupules	10	Morris, D. The vultures of Kalabasput: On the interpretation of a series of unusual Karoo rock engravings	44
Nash, G.H., & Troncoso, A. The socio-ritual organisation of the upper Limarí Valley: Two rock art traditions, one landscape	15	Eisenberg-Degen, D. & Nash, G.H. Foot/sandal prints and ovaliods in the rock art assemblage Ramat Matred, the Negev Desert, Israel	50
Hardtke, F.E. Rock art interpretive approaches – Devising frameworks to maximally utilise independent lines of evidence.....	22	Sigari, D. Portrayal of a sea in a semiarid environment: Boat engravings in Büyük Daş, Gobustan	57