

Contents

Special Issue: POCT at the Interface of Emerging Technologies and New Clinical Applications

Issue Editor: Peter B. Lippa

Editorial

Peter B. Lippa

Point-of-care testing at the interface of emerging technologies and new clinical applications — 59

Congress Report

Andreas Bietenbeck and Peter B. Lippa
Congress Report: 4th Munich POCT Symposium 2019, March 11–13, 2019, Klinikum rechts der Isar der TU München — 63

Articles

Guido Freckmann

Basics and use of continuous glucose monitoring (CGM) in diabetes therapy — 71

Maurice J. O’Kane

Patient self-testing in chronic disease management — 81

Paul Collinson

Cardiac biomarkers by point-of-care testing – back to the future? — 89

Alexander von Meyer, Peter B. Lippa and Janne Cadamuro
The extended internal QC (eiQC): a new practical approach for quality assurance in point-of-care glucose testing using the POCTopus Software – a pilot study — 97

Marco Kachler and Christiane Maschek

Organizational challenges in the management of point-of-care diagnostics in healthcare facilities — 103

Wibke Johannis, Andreas Bietenbeck, Gebhart Malchau and Thomas Streichert

Point-of-care testing (POCT) and IT security concepts — 107