

|                                                                                                                                                                                                      |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Shaping values and economics:Tensions and compromises inthe institutionalization of organicagriculture in Finland (1991–2015)T. Lehtimäki and M.J. Virtanen                          | 149 | Shared responsibility and communityengagement: Community narrativesof bushfire risk information inVictoria, AustraliaV. Cooper, P. Fairbrother, G. Elliott,M. Walker and H.-Y. Ch'ng                                                             | 259 |
| Caring for vineyards: Transformingfarmer-vine relations and practices inviticulture French farmsM. Alarcon, P. Marty andA.-C. Prévot                                                 | 160 | How does international migrationimpact on rural areas in developingcountries? A systematic reviewC. Obi, F. Bartolini, G. Brunori andM. D'Haese                                                                                                      | 273 |
| The neglected country(side): Earthquakerisk perceptions and disaster riskreduction in post-Soviet ruralKazakhstanK. Oven and G. Bankoff                                              | 171 | Protection of traditional agriculturalknowledge and rethinking agriculturalresearch from farmers' perspective: Acase from TurkeyZ. Aksoy and Ö. Öz                                                                                                   | 291 |
| Financial-related psychological factorsaffect life satisfaction of farmersW. Heo, J.M. Lee and N. Park                                                                                       | 185 | A framework for recognizing diversitybeyond capitalism in agri-foodsystemsO. Koretskaya and G. Feola                                                                                                                                                     | 302 |
| Australian farmers left behind in thedigital economy – Insights from theAustralian Digital Inclusion IndexA. Marshall, M. Dezuanni,J. Burgess, J. Thomas andC.K. Wilson          | 195 | Does the Common Agricultural Policyenhance farming systems' resilience?Applying the Resilience AssessmentTool (ResAT) to a farming systemcase study in the NetherlandsY. Buitenhuis, J.J.L. Candel,K.J.A.M. Termeer and P.H. Feindt          | 314 |
| Nostalgia for la montaña: Theproduction of landscape at the frontierof chilean commercial forestryD. Manushevich, M. Gurr andC.A. Ramirez-Pascualli                                  | 211 | Diversifying, transforming, and lastresorts: The utilization of communitybased youth serving organizationsin the construction of livelihoodstrategies by disconnected youth inrural AmericaM.A. Visser, J. Mullooly andP. Campos-Melchor | 328 |
| Gender, violence and social resources inrural producers' economic decisionsL.E. Orozco Collazos andV.A. Baldrich Mora                                                                    | 222 | Farmers' health and social insuranceperceptions – A case study from aremote rural region in GreeceG. Evangelakaki, C. Karelakis andK. Galanopoulos                                                                                                   | 337 |
| The lost rural idyll? Tourists' attitudestowards sustainability and theirinfluence on the production of ruralspace at a rural tourism hotspot inNorthern IrelandS. Panzer-Krause | 235 | Making up the British countryside: Aposthuman critique of Country Life'snarratives of rural resilience andconservationC. Duggan and E. Peeren                                                                                                 | 350 |
| Rural landscape cartographies of tekoháguasú Keri communities. Mbya-guarani reciprocity principleM. Prieto-Peinado                                                                       | 244 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |     |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| The resilience of Finnish farms:Exploring the interplay betweenagency and structureI. Kuhmonen                                                                                                         | 360 | Shifting the horse's role from ruralsubsistence activities to the leisureindustry in the context of maintainingthe goal of breeding improvement.The case of RomaniaI. Bostan, C.M. Lazăr and N. Asalos | 481 |
| Exploring the cost burden of rural rentalhousingM.R. Gawryls and A.T. Carswell                                                                                                                             | 372 | The role of forest policy inMediterranean mountaincommunity lands: A review ofthe decentralization processes inEuropean countriesI. Skulska, C. Montiel-Molina andF.C. Rego                        | 490 |
| Renewable energy diversification:Considerations for farm businessresilienceW. Morris and R. Bowen                                                                                                      | 380 | Hegel, Beck and the reconceptualizationof ecological risk: The example ofAustralian agricultureD.K. Bardsley and A. Knierim                                                                                    | 503 |
| Meso-organizations, relational capital,and rural producers' integration intothe market in a context of violenceL.E. Orozco Collazos,C. Forero Pineda, V.A. Baldrich Moraand M.F. Moscoso Rojas | 391 | Civilising offensive in China's ruralareas: An examination of theestablishment of moral reviewcouncilsS. Zhang                                                                                             | 513 |
| The spatial aggregation of rurale-commerce in China: An empiricalinvestigation into Taobao VillagesM. Liu, Q. Zhang, S. Gao andJ. Huang                                                            | 403 | Desolation in the countryside: Howagricultural crime impacts the mentalhealth of British farmersK. Smith                                                                                                       | 522 |
| Phosphorous, farms, and families:Institutional narratives aboutagricultural intensification and waterquality in northeastern WisconsinN.M. Evans, W.P. Stewart andM.A. Davis                   | 418 | Assemblage and the 'good farmer': Newentrants to crofting in ScotlandL.-A. Sutherland and A. Calo                                                                                                                  | 532 |
| The status of perceived communityresilience in transitional rural society:An empirical study from centralChinaB. Yang, M.W. Feldman and S. Li                                                      | 427 | Other agricultures of scale: Social andenvironmental insights from YakimaValley hop growersM. Comi                                                                                                             | 543 |
| A life-stage approach for understandingpopulation retention in sparselypopulated areasS. Dyrting, A. Taylor and F. Shalley                                                                             | 439 | Climate change beliefs and supportfor development: Testing acognitive hierarchy of support fornatural resource-related economicdevelopment in rural PennsylvaniaJ.T. Mueller and A.R. Tickamyer        | 553 |
| Peasant households' land use decision-making analysis using social networkanalysis: A case of Tantou Village,ChinaH. Xia, C. Li, D. Zhou, Y. Zhang andJ. Xu                                    | 452 | Is the European countrysidedepopulating? Case study MoraviaA. Vaishar, M. Št'astná, J. Zapletalováand E. Nováková                                                                                              | 567 |
| Automatic milking systems and farmerwellbeing—exploring the effects ofautomation and digitalization in dairyfarmingB.G. Hansen, C.T. Bugge andP.K. Skibrek                                     | 469 | The assessment of rural development:Identification of an applicable set ofindicators through a Delphi approachI. Abreu and F.J. Mesias                                                                         | 578 |

|                                                                                                                                                                         |     |                                                                                                    |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Exploring emergent practices inAlternative Food Networks:Voedselteams in BelgiumT.A. Zwart and E. Mathijs                                            | 586 | The enduring insignificance of a schoolfor its village: An English case studyS. Hillyard   | 618 |
| Agents of centralization? Local schooladministrations and contested schoolclosures in Norwegian rural districtsA. Aasland and S. Søholt                     | 595 | Rural communities and schools –Valuing and reproducing local cultureM. Villa and A. Knutas | 626 |
| Village schools as a hub in thecommunity - A time-geographicalanalysis of the closing of two ruralschools in southern SwedenM. Cedering and E. Wihlborg | 606 |                                                                                                    |     |