

Gaining control	88
genic purposes	95	4.1. The idea of 'objectifying the clinical image' in medical films: The case of the psychiatrist Johannes Kirchhof	213
	101	4.2. The antagonism between therapy and elimination in Nazi psychiatry	229
Department	106	5. Conclusion	236
tions	108
ormation of	108
care' and the SS and the SA	116 123	VI. 'BUILDING A RESEARCH PROGRAMME: MEDICAL FILMS AND CHILDREN'S 'EUTHANASIA'	237
re of tolerance and	129	1. Introduction	237
		2. Killing the most vulnerable: The children's 'euthanasia' programme	239
		3. The RWU film 'A 4½-Year-Old Patient with Microcephaly'	249
IAL HYGIENE	135	4. 'The more the better': The use of children in films and research	264
	135	5. Post-war careers	270
	137
the RWU	141	VII. 'THE VICARAGE OF BRAY': POST-WAR CONTINUITIES AND THE MORAL DIMENSION OF NAZI MEDICAL FILM	275
hygiene education	143	1. Denazifying German visual aids	275
case of Hans	157	2. Three new institutes	278
	161	3. 'The Vicars of Bray': Continuities in personnel	282
	168	4. Medical film and medical ethics	284
aining through films	173
		APPENDICES
UROPSYCHIATRIC	176	1. Select filmography of medical films of the RWU produced between 1933 and 1945	291
	176	2. Medical film holdings at German universities according to the RWU survey of 1935	307
	179
films	183	BIBLIOGRAPHY	311
ity of Frankfurt	189	Archival sources	311
33	196	Unpublished sources	327
psy' as	204	Sources published before 1945	327
egislation	211	Sources published after 1945	344
ion Law
ity of Berlin on the		INDEX	367